DEKRA Arbeit Group is expanding its international presence by opening two new branches in Paris. The branches in France, DEKRA's second home market, are joining the ranks of over 140 locations in a total of 17 European countries. Through its expansion, Germany's sixth-largest temporary employment and personnel service provider is aiming to shape the European labor market on a lasting basis with the help of a placement-oriented approach.

"Paris is France's largest economic hub, and its status as one of Europe's major cities makes it a key location with great potential for us," said Jérôme Gras, head of DEKRA Personnel France. "So we are delighted to be present on the French market as well in the future and to be able to provide competent and trustworthy support to both companies and employees. The expertise and experience of the Europe-wide DEKRA Arbeit network will also stand us in good stead as we move ahead." The two new branches are located in central Paris, on Rue de Stockholm, and in the suburb of Bagneux, on Rue Alphonse Pluchet.
